1. Aims

The aims of relationships and sex education (RSE) at our school are to:

- Provide a framework in which sensitive discussions can take place
- Prepare pupils for puberty, and give them an understanding of sexual development and the importance of health and hygiene
- Help pupils develop feelings of self-respect, confidence and empathy
- Create a positive culture around issues of sexuality and relationships
- Teach pupils the correct vocabulary to describe themselves and their bodies
- Enhance our inclusive approach to equal and respectful relationships

2. Statutory requirements

As a maintained primary school we must provide relationships education to all pupils as per section 34 of the Children and Social work act 2017.

However, we are not required to provide sex education but we do need to teach the elements of sex education contained in the science curriculum. In teaching RSE, we must have regard to guidance issued by the secretary of state as outlined in section 403 of the Education Act 1996.

At Tetherdown School we teach RSE as set out in this policy.

3. Policy development

This policy has been developed in consultation with staff and parents. The consultation and policy development process involved the following steps:

1. Review – a member of staff pulled together all relevant information including relevant national and local guidance (March 2020)
2. Staff consultation – school staff were given the opportunity to look at the policy and make recommendations (21.4.2020)
3. Parent/carer focus group – parents and any interested parties were invited to attend a meeting about the policy (October 2020)
4. Pupil consultation – we will investigate feedback from pupils as we deliver the RSE policy (Summer 2021).
5. Ratification – once amendments were made, the policy was shared with governors and ratified (23.3.21)

4. Definition

RSE is about the emotional, social and cultural development of pupils, and involves learning about relationships, sexual reproduction, sexuality, healthy lifestyles, diversity and personal identity.

RSE involves a combination of sharing information and exploring issues and values.

RSE is not about the promotion of sexual activity.

5. Curriculum

Our curriculum is set out as per Appendix 1 but we may need to adapt it as and when necessary.

We have developed the curriculum in consultation with parents and staff, and intend to take into account the age, needs and feelings of pupils. If pupils ask questions outside the scope of this policy, teachers will respond in an appropriate manner so they are fully informed and don't seek answers online.

Sex education at Tetherdown Primary School will focus on:

- › Preparing boys and girls for the changes that adolescence brings (Year 5)
- › How a baby is conceived and born (Year 6)

For more information about our curriculum, see our curriculum map in Appendix 1.

6. Delivery of RSE

RSE is taught within the personal, social, health and economic (PSHE) education curriculum. At Tetherdown Primary School we follow the “Jigsaw” scheme for PSHE and RSE. We are mindful that certain topics of discussion around relationships and sex will naturally arise during the course of teaching and learning in other subjects and these conversations will be held sensitively and with respect. Biological aspects of RSE are taught within the science curriculum, and other aspects are included in religious education (RE).

Teachers will deliver RSE using a range of pedagogic approaches. Consideration will be made for those with barriers to their learning, including EAL, SEND, etc. The teacher will implement appropriate strategies for pupils to work individually, in pairs and in groups according to the materials. Most activities will be carried out through purposeful discussion allowing the teacher to manage enquiries in a sensitive and respectful manner.

Pupils also receive stand-alone sex education sessions which is taught by the class teacher. These normally take place in the summer term of Year 5 and the autumn term of Year 6.

Relationships education focuses on teaching the fundamental building blocks and characteristics of positive relationships including:

- ✓ Families and people who care for me
- ✓ Caring friendships
- ✓ Respectful relationships
- ✓ Online relationships
- ✓ Being safe

For more information about our RSE curriculum, see Appendices 1 and 2.

These areas of learning are taught within the context of family life taking care to ensure that there is no stigmatisation of children based on their home circumstances (families can include single parent families, LGBT+ parents, families headed by grandparents, adoptive parents, foster parents/carers amongst other structures) along with reflecting sensitively that some children may have a different structure of support around them (for example, looked after children or young carers).

7. Roles and responsibilities

7.1 The governing body

The governing body will approve the RSE policy and hold the headteacher to account for its implementation.

7.2 The headteacher

The headteacher is responsible for ensuring that RSE is taught consistently across the school, and for managing requests to withdraw pupils from the non-science sex education components of RSE (see section 8).

7.3 Staff

Staff are responsible for:

- › Delivering RSE in a sensitive way
- › Modelling positive attitudes to RSE

- › Monitoring progress
- › Responding to the needs of individual pupils
- › Responding appropriately to pupils whose parents wish them to be withdrawn from the non-science components of RSE

Staff do not have the right to opt out of teaching RSE. Staff who have concerns about teaching RSE are encouraged to discuss this with the headteacher.

Class Teachers in Year 5 and Year 6 teach RSE.

7.4 Pupils

Pupils are expected to engage fully in RSE and, when discussing issues related to RSE, treat others with respect and sensitivity.

8. Parents' right to withdraw

Parents do not have the right to withdraw their children from relationships education.

Parents have the right to withdraw their child from the non-science components of sex education within RSE. Requests for withdrawal should be put in writing using the form found in Appendix 3 of this policy and addressed to the headteacher. Alternative work will be given to pupils who are withdrawn from sex education and they will be asked to work in a different classroom / learning space.

9. Training

Staff are trained on the delivery of RSE as part of their continuing professional development calendar.

The headteacher may also invite visitors from outside the school, such as school nurses or sexual health professionals, to provide support and training to staff teaching RSE.

10. Monitoring arrangements

The delivery of RSE is monitored by the Deputy Head through planning analyses, learning walks and discussions with staff and children. Pupils' development in RSE is monitored by class teachers as part of our internal assessment arrangements.

This policy will be reviewed annually by the Headteacher. At every review, the policy will be approved by the Learning & Community Committee and the Full Governing Body.
